ORGANIZATION OF WORK

The general debate, which commences with statements by the Chairman of the Executive Board and the Executive Director, is expected to occupy the first two days. The Executive Director's response will be delivered on the morning of the third day. In accordance with the desire expressed by Board members in the past, policy papers will be reviewed in the course of the general debate, when general observations on the major policy, reporting and planning documents are invited.

Delegations are reminded that Executive Board decision 1987/1 sets a general time limit of 10 minutes for statements by delegations and stipulates that all meetings should begin promptly. It is anticipated that delegations will make only one major intervention in the general debate, while reserving more detailed observations on major issues for other agenda items during the meetings of the Programme Committee and the Committee on Administration and Finance. The latter both meet as committees of the whole; and it is expected that the Programme Committee will meet from 24 to 29 April and that the Committee on Administration and Finance will meet from 30 April to 2 May. In keeping with Executive Board decision 1989/1, interventions in the committees should be as brief as possible, not exceeding seven minutes, to allow for a true dialogue.

Time has been allocated for drafting sessions to negotiate, when necessary, draft recommendations emanating from policy papers or from the floor. Delegations are reminded of the following procedures, as decided by the Executive Board, governing the submission and consideration of draft proposals additional to those contained in the documentation: (a) the Chairman of the Board and/or the chairmen of the committees shall announce deadlines for submission of draft proposals to ensure sufficient time for translation and negotiations, bearing in mind the 24-hour rule; (b) deadlines for submission of draft proposals under each agenda item should be announced during the first days of each regular session of the Board in order to enable delegations to prepare draft proposals in a timely manner; (c) to the extent possible, deadlines for draft proposals should be set in connection with the discussion of the relevant agenda item and not later than two days before the end of the session; and (d) the Chairman of the Board and/or the chairmen of the committees will send proposals that do not enjoy consensus and, therefore, require more thorough examination, to open-ended drafting sessions.

The recommendations of the two committees that require Executive Board approval will be presented to the plenary on the last day of the session in brief oral statements by the respective chairmen. The chairmen of the Board and its committees will then present to the plenary for approval the results on draft resolutions and decisions that are not contained in the committee statements.

Prior to the closure of the session, the secretariat will endeavour to circulate draft reports of the proceedings of the committees. Executive Board members will be invited to submit their comments, if any, in writing to the Office of the Secretary of the Executive Board within two weeks, after which the reports will be cleared by the respective chairman prior to inclusion in the report of the Board.

DOCUMENTATION

There have been a number of changes in the format and periodicity of documentation as compared to that for the 1990 regular session.

In accordance with decisions taken by the Executive Board at its 1990 regular session, the following changes in documentation have been implemented: (a) every document submitted to the Board is prefaced with an executive summary in which the conclusions and recommendations, if any, are summarized; (b) wherever possible, reports on specific subjects called for by Board members are incorporated in the Executive Director's annual report; (c) regional reports are no longer than six pages and report and analyse major new trends and developments of the past year in the region; (d) in preparing country programme recommendations, stand-alone proposals for supplementary funding are clustered according to region or main theme; (e) the medium-term plan (except for the financial plan and related recommendation) and the use of global funds (including the interregional fund for programme preparation, promotion and evaluation) will be considered on a biennial basis after 1990; and (f) the International Child Development Centre will be considered on a biennial basis from 1991. In addition, the Bureau established the following maximum page lengths for country programme recommendations: 12 to 14 pages for smaller recommendations and 16 to 18 pages for others.
